

Serif fonts (12 point)

Doulos SIL looks like Times New Roman. No predesigned bold or italics, but Word can generate imitations. Widely used (on my website too). Recommended for compatibility.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰw̥ɪk'sa:rɪkʰ kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɹ̩ 'dʒɑ:gʰ 'beɪfʊtʰ
 why shouldn't a quixotic Kazakh vampire jog barefoot
 'Why shouldn't a quixotic Kazakh vampire jog barefoot?'

Falsches Üben von Xylophonmusik quält jeden größeren Zwerg
 wrong practising of xylophonemusic bothers every larger dwarf
 'Wrong practising of xylophone music bothers every larger dwarf.'

Charis SIL is complete and professional. Harmonises quite well with the Yale font if you reduce font size by one point. Recommended for presentation purposes.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰw̥ɪk'sa:rɪkʰ kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɹ̩ 'dʒɑ:gʰ 'beɪfʊtʰ

 'Wrong practising of xylophone music bothers every larger dwarf.'

Gentium Plus is compact and pretty. No predesigned bold, but Word can generate imitations. It's a bit too pretty for me to concentrate on the text, though.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰw̥ɪk'sa:rɪkʰ kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɹ̩ 'dʒɑ:gʰ 'beɪfʊtʰ

Linux Libertine is a very large font that tries to cover all the Unicode ranges. This can be extremely useful but it may slow down some computers. Their primary focus was not IPA, so for instance you can see that the “no audible release” mark is not spaced quite right.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰwɪk'sɑ:rɪk kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɪ 'dʒɑ:g̊ 'beɪfʊt̩

Sans serif fonts (12 point)

DejaVu comes in Serif, Sans and Sans Monospaced (my favorite for programming) Covers much more than the IPA so it might slow down some computers.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰwɪk'sɑ:rɪk̩ kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɪ 'dʒɑ:g̊ 'beɪfʊt̩
 why shouldn't a quixotic Kazakh vampire jog barefoot

Lucida Sans Unicode (not free) comes with Windows 98 and later; Lucida Grande comes with Mac. It's said to slow down some computers because it is such a large font, covering far more than the IPA.

'waj 'ʃʊdn̩t ə kʰwɪk'sɑ:rɪk̩ kʰə'zɑ:k 'væmpajɪ 'dʒɑ:g̊ 'beɪfʊt̩
 why shouldn't a quixotic Kazakh vampire jog barefoot

What doesn't work so well (12 point)

Times New Roman (before Windows Vista) cannot display important IPA characters.

Arial Unicode MS (not free) comes with Microsoft Office. I've had trouble with spacing for apostrophes and some IPA characters.
